Dear Hiring Team,

I am applying for the Product Manager role on Wemolo's IoT Platform.

At FlowSpace, I owned three products end to end, from discovery through rollout and iteration: an AI listing pipeline that has drafted more than 900 workspace listings from unstructured broker documents, RAG powered support agents that escalate to a human on low confidence, and OfficeRnD and Nexudus integrations that automate bookings for our workspace operators. For each one I wrote the spec, ran the backlog with engineers and operators, and iterated on real usage. I am technical enough to read the code my team ships, so I can work through tradeoffs with engineering directly.

Wemolo's IoT platform sits at a similar intersection: internal tooling, event driven logic, and operational scalability, connecting a hardware fleet to the teams that run it. That mix is close to how I have worked for the last two and a half years.

I am based in Venice, Italy, and ready to relocate to Munich. I hold an Italian EU long term residence permit, which does not automatically extend to Germany, so I would need employer side sponsorship. I am not a German speaker.

Regards,
Prabhavit Gupta